TO TALK OVER THE SITUATION

Sir Edward Grey's Proposal that
Embassadors of Six Great Powers
Meet, Finds Favor

London, Nov. 29.—Sir Edward Grey's proposal that the ambassadors of the six great powers, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Austria-Hungary and Italy, should assemble in one of the capitals with the view of emphasizing the points arising out of the Balkan war on which the nations are already in agreement, is understood to have the support of Germany, France and Russia.

The idea is to endeavor to avert the disposition to drift into an alignment of the two groups of powers forming the triple alliance and the triple entente in opposite camps over isolated questions such as caused the tension which existed early this week.

It is anticipated that without attempting to reach a detailed settlement of all the problems which will come up for arrangement at the end of the war, the ambassadors will be able to register an agreement in principle on such matters as the future of Albania, the disposition of the islands in the Aegean sea and the opening of the Dardanelles.

The powers apparently are all ready to recognize Albanian independence and to pledge themselves not to seek territorial acquisitions in the Aegean sea.

Some reorganization of the standing of the Dardanelles seems bound to follow the changes of the map arising from the war, and there is a disposition to believe that they will be opened on a basis of equality for all nations.

Problems like the Austria-Serbia difficulty will be left for settlement after peace has been concluded.

The main object of the proposed conference is to bring the powers into closer contact and to have in existence an authoritative body which will be in a position to eliminate causes of friction whenever they arise.

News as to the negotiations of the Bulgarian and Turkish envoys at the village of Bagitche, near the lines of the Tihatalja, and the temporary lull on the battlefields is very scanty. Beyond the fact that the plenipotentiaries sitting in the parlor car between the two armies were expected to get to closer quarters today, nothing has reached the outer world as to the actual proposals made by the allied Balkan nations which would enable an estimate to be made of the result. Dr. Daneff, speaker of the Bulgarian parliament, has been chosen to preside over the negotiations.

The friction existing at Salonika and elsewhere between the Bulgarians and the Greeks causes little surprise, but it is considered likely to increase the anxiety of the Balkan league to bring the terms of peace within Turkey's acceptance.

Ten Citizens File Charges With Governor Bass and Ask Removal

This Move is the Culmination of the Repeated Efforts to Remove
Chief Entwistle

(Special to The Herald.)
Concord, N. H., Nov. 29.—Closely following on the charges of Mayor Daniel W. Badger of Portsmouth, filed with Gov. Bass against police commissioners Morris C. Foye and True L. Norris of that city, comes the announcement of more charges against these two officials and asking the Governor to remove them from the office they now occupy.

The new charges are said to be filed by a citizens' committee of Portsmouth, consisting of clergymen and prominent business men and will be presented at the meeting of Gov. Bass and council to be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The charges are said to ask for the removal of both of the commissioners and are the outgrowth of the repeated efforts of late to oust Chief of Police Entwistle from the office he has held for so many years.

The conditions that have been allowed to exist in the sea port city such as the maintaining of disreputable houses and gambling places are said to be the basis of the charges.

Chief of Police Entwistle is a member of Gov. Bass' Council, but it is said he will be debarred from taking any part in the proceedings.

The petition for the removal of Commissioners Foye and Norris is signed by Rev. Lucius H. Thayer, Mayor Daniel W. Badger, Harry B. Boynton and Harold H. Bennett. It alleges incompetency on the part of these officials in handling police matters and specifies the fact that they allow eleven houses of ill repute to exist in the city.

A hearing was set for December 17th and it is believed that the hearing on the charges preferred by Mayor Badger which were originally set for a hearing on Dec. 9th, will be heard at the same time.

IN MEMORY OF DEPARTED ONES

Annual Lodge of Sorrow of Portsmouth Lodge of Elks Will be Held on Sunday

Portsmouth Lodge of Elks will offer their annual public tribute to the memory of departed members Sunday by the Rev. Alfred Gooding, pastor of the First Unitarian church, and the benediction by the Rev. Harold M. Folson, rector of St. John's Episcopal church.

The service will begin at 3 o'clock. While the orchestra and the principal balcony chairs are reserved for the Elks and their guests, approximately 300 seats in the balcony are reserved for the public. These seats will be available when the doors of the theatre open at 2.15 o'clock and tickets will not be required for the occupancy of them. All reserved seats that are not occupied at 3 o'clock will likewise be given to the public.

William A. Murphy, a Boston lawyer, former secretary to Governor Eben H. Draper, will deliver the annual eulogy of the departed. His oratory is considered by many to approximate that of Hon. David I. Walsh, who is considered to be the most eloquent man in public life in Massachusetts. Mr. Murphy last year delivered the memorial address before Boston Lodge, of which he is a member.

Chaplain Curtis Hoyt Dickens, U. S. N., attached to the battleship Florida, will come from New York to speak at the service. His subject will be "The Appropriateness of the Elks' Memorial Service." Instrumental music will be played by the Elks' Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Alexander Billurick, and the Elks' quartette, consisting of:

W. Priest, will render the vocal music. The opening prayer will be delivered by the Rev. Alfred Gooding, pastor of the First Unitarian church, and the benediction by the Rev. Harold M. Folson, rector of St. John's Episcopal church.

Premier Count Sturgh announced today to the committee of the lower house of parliament that he would submit within a few days three bills relating to supply horses, dealing with the support to be granted to relatives and dependants of soldiers in the event of mobilization, and providing for the services to be rendered in the provision of means of transportation by private individuals and communes, should the emergency arise.

The premier emphasized the necessity of the speedy and smooth passage of these measures and urged the leaders of the various political parties in the house to impress their followers with the necessity of expedition.

NAVY YARD UNDERBIDS.

Will Make Guns for Ships Cheaper Than the Big Private Establishments.

It costs the government less to have the guns for the navy built at the gun factory at the Washington navy yard than it does to buy them from private establishments. That was clearly demonstrated in a recent competition when bids were invited for five five inch and ten four inch guns. The bid of the Washington factory was $6,370 for the four inch gun and $7,262 for the five inch gun. The army arsenal at Watervliet, N. Y., which was the second lowest bidder offered to construct the five inch gun for $8,120 and the four inch for $6,709. The naval establishment thus bid lower than the army, while both were far below bids submitted by private corporations which were as follows—Bethlehem Steel Corporation, $11,350 for the five inch, and $9,650 for the four, and Midvale Iron works, $10,950 for the five inch, and $9,250 for the four.

The 1913 construction program will call for about 32 five inch guns, and fifty four inch. They will be used on the battleship Pennsylvania and other war craft to be built, including six destroyers, two oil fuel ships, one tender for destroyer and one submarine tender.

CEMENTDETENTION CAMP IS WORKING OUT VERY WELLEnlisted Men Being Saved for the Navy By New Methods.

The endeavor to make the barracks the Secretary of the Navy's annual report devotes some space to the detention system of punishment for naval offenses which was put into operation in the navy on Sept. 1, 1911 and has produced gratifying results. By means of this system naval prisoners are divided into two broad classes, first those convicted of offenses involving a moral turpitude or violation of general laws of country; and second those convicted of purely military offenses. Offenders of the first class whose retention in the navy would be prejudicial to the best interests of the service, are sent to states prison and subjected to the rules and discipline of such institutions in the same manner as persons convicted of similar offenses by a civil court. Those guilty of military offenses whose previous records give hope of reform are sent to what are detention camps. After a detention-er has satisfactorily served two thirds of the period to which sentenced, he is placed on probation at the disciplinary barracks, and as far as possible given duties similar to those performed by other enlisted men in the navy. During this probationary period, the detentioner is carefully observed by the officers in charge and if his conduct warrants such action he is unconditionally restored to general duty in the navy. Known as Naval Disciplinary Barracks. These last offenders are called detentioners. Instead of prisoners, they continue to wear their naval uniforms instead of prison garb; and instead of performing hard labor, they are put through a carefully selected course in service drills and instructions with a view to increased efficiency when restored to duty. These detentioners while they are deprived of their liberty and pay during the period there may be as little as possible of the prison aspect at the disciplinary barracks, it has been in effect a correctional school, so that detentioners may be ambitious to redeem themselves when restored to duty. In addition to the daily drills and work, detentioners are allowed an encouraged to take part in athletic exercises. Nevertheless, it is not the intention to make the disciplinary barracks attractive to enlisted men confined therein. On the contrary the rigid routine of drills and useful work which is at all times maintained, is very exacting, and calculated when combined with deprivation of liberty, to render those who have once experienced such discipline reluctant to undergo a second term of detention.

Aside from the help given the individual, the detention system which operates to reform offenders who formerly were dishonorably discharged, accomplishes a financial saving to the government, as it costs money to enlist, equip, transfer to one of the coasts, and give first instructions to each recruit. The naval disciplinary barracks at present in operation are located at Port Royal S. C., and at the navy yard Puget Sound, Bremerton, Washington.

NAVAL PLANS CHANGE

Realizing the probability of rapid and important developments in the Balkan was which caused the dispatch of Admiral Knight, with the big cruisers Tennessee and Montana, to the orient. The navy department has slightly amended the itinerary of the ships so as to keep them in close touch by cable with the department. Therefore, Admiral Knight on the Tennessee, instead of going direct from Gibraltar to Smyrna will first go to Malta while the Montana which is destined for Beirut will stop at Port Said at the entrance of the Suez Canal.

The change in the itinerary will make it easier for the cruisers to replenish their coal supply pending the arrival in the Mediterranean of the collier Brutus, a very important point, in view of the high cost of coal in the Mediterranean.

The travel on the railroad on Wednesday evening was heavy, and most of the trains were a little off time.

REGULARS WILL STICK
BY SENATOR GALLINGERInsist That Honor of President Pro
Tem of Senate Belongs to Him.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The insurgent element in the senate yields the balance of power insofar as it can hold up certain legislation, but it is quite evident that it does not find itself firmly on its feet toward gaining more strength.

That the insurgents find themselves in a perplexing dilemma and don't know which is the best way to jump was plainly shown the other day when one of the leaders approached certain men on the Republican side regarding the election of a President pro tempore of the senate which has been long pending and to which office senator Gallinger is the Republican caucus nominee. The offer was made by the insurgents that they could withdraw their opposition and vote with the Republicans providing the name of Mr. Gallinger was withdrawn and any other senator than he could be designated. Such a change would enable the insurgents to vote with the party and yet not compel them to back down from the position they took when Mr. Gallinger's name was brought up for a vote and when they refused to support him and put forward the name of senator Clapp who was an ardent Roosevelt man.

The insurgent opposition to Mr. Gallinger seems to date from the time when he, as chairman of the committee on committees, failed to assign important chairmanships to certain senators who were not fully in accord with party politics, and yet who were put forward for places of party power. The suggestion made by the insurgent outsider for a change of caucus nominee was emphatically declined and the Republicans will stand firmly by Mr. Gallinger as the party choice. They believe he is entitled to the office by party custom and eminent qualifications and refuse to be either frightened or cajoled into turning him down, even though the present deadlock should throw the office ultimately to the Democrats.

Falling to turn the tide against Mr.

Gallinger it is possible the insurgents will join with the Democrats in electing senator Bacon of Georgia to the office. In that way they might hope to gain certain favors in committee appointments next March when the senate is reorganized should their be a democratic majority. But as the election of President pro tempore is considered entirely a partisan matter they may hesitate to align themselves with the opposition.

The death of Vice President Sherman makes the election of a presidential officer imperative, and the deadlock will undoubtedly be broken at an early date.

Lax Divorce Laws.

Reno, Nevada, is going to redeem itself from the charge of being a cesspool of slander and iniquity. The people of the state of Nevada at the recent election selected a legislature the majority of whose members are opposed to the present lax divorce laws, which have made Reno the headquarters for thousands of men and women who have located there temporarily for the sole purpose of freeing themselves from matrimonial bonds which have become irksome to them. One of the first acts of the legislature of Nevada when it comes together in January will be to abolish the present divorce laws and enact in their place laws on that subject which shall free the state and the city of Reno from the stain that has been upon them these past few years.—Manchester Mirror.

The Springfield Republican says it was freely predicted by close observers in Washington last winter that if any democratic candidate other than Woodrow Wilson, or possibly Mr. Underwood, should be elected, the classified civil service, which rests largely upon executive order of the President, and not upon statutory law, would be surrendered as prey to the office-hunting spoilsmen. Gov. Wilson's reputation as a civil service reformer is now a fortunate thing for him; it will make his task easier because the spoilsmen will expect less. But at that he will have a time hard enough with office seekers, and Mr. Taft seems to be contemplating a move which in some quarters is rashly hailed as shrewd politics, since it will either force Mr. Wilson to go back on his record as a reformer or further reduce the number of offices which he can fill with democrats. But a larger view both of Mr. Taft and Mr. Wilson establishes a confident belief that Mr. Taft is not playing politics, but is simply continuing to do what he can to increase the efficiency of the service, and that he will not only have Mr. Wilson's hearty approval, but his intelligent gratitude for leaving him fewer offices to be bothered with.

The Philadelphia Ledger claims that the action of the postal department, whose inspectors have arrested or are seeking to arrest 173 persons in 72 cities for using the mails for illegal medical practice or fraud, is likely to have a far-reaching importance. The postal department and the federal government are not primarily reformatory agencies, but the government undertakes to carry the mail for only legitimate purposes and certainly cannot afford to permit it to be used as an instrument of crime. This tremendous business agency, the post office, offers an extraordinary opportunity for the swift and efficient transaction of business, and if its functions are to be perverted to base and criminal uses the department becomes, by reason of its very efficiency and widespread activities, a menace to the country.

The Philadelphia Inquirer states that last week there was a meeting in this city of legal lights, financial experts and sociologists looking toward the formulation of a "blue sky law" such as exists in Kansas for the protection of the innocent investor from the rapacity of the sharks who sell worthless securities to ignorant and supine people with a little cash on hand. The estimate of $1,000,000 a year loss in this city from such sources seems small when one considers the number of financial "cats and dogs" which are taken up by the public. Some of these are bought in good faith by the ignorant, while others are taken by spectators in the hope of a happy turn by which they may sell out at a profit.

The New York Sun says Brig. Gen. Edward J. McClelland, who was Shafter's chief of staff in the brief Santiago campaign, has been profoundly impressed by the efficiency of the Italian cavalry. He is reported as being loud in his praises to the Count of Turin. The training of the riding school in Rome Gen. McClelland spoke of as wonderful and the exhibitions he declared were extraordinary. There are no harder and more daring riders in Europe than the Italian cavalymen, and the system weeds out the weaklings. The United States army at present cannot produce their equals in the mass; wherefore it is an excellent thing for American officers to see how fighting men are trained on the continent.

The Rochester Courier tersely remarks as follows: It's a funny thing that the campaign expenses of the leading candidates should show that the third party generally spent far more money than either of the old-time parties. For example, in this state, where the cost of Mr. Felker's remarkably energetic and effective campaign was only $4644, Col. Churchill paid out over $14,000, or just about $1.00 each for the votes he received. In Massachusetts, Mr. Bird's campaign cost him over $30,000, or more than the combined expenses of the republican and democratic candidates. Evidently somebody besides the "dear common people" was back of this third-party movement.

Current Comment.

Compulsory Arbitration

The umpires who have just served in the settlement of the wage dispute between the locomotive engineers and the eastern railway take the ground in urging the adoption of a system of compulsory arbitration, that this is not merely a matter resting strictly between the workers and the employers, but that a third interest is at stake, that of the public which uses and depends upon the transportation systems. To conserve this interest which is paramount, some method should be devised to insure continuous service by preventing interperiodical interruptions caused by the failure of the workers and the companies to agree upon the conditions of punishment.

This is the strongest possible ground upon which to urge compulsory arbitration. The railroad business is unlike manufacturing in that it supplies a public necessity. In the present state of society it is impossible to suspend traffic without causing immediate distress and untold losses, to practically all of the people. No part of the country fails to feel the effect of a railroad strike leading to even the partial slackening of the service. This is not only a matter of passenger riding, but it affects all of the markets which supply all the daily living necessities.

The public has the right to demand of the railroad company that they maintain working relations with their employees. It has also the right to demand of the employees that they give continuous and efficient service, or, if dissatisfied with conditions, that they permit others to work in their stead, so that the trains may continue to move without interruption. To enforce these demands some method should be provided, some process to insure continuous operation. The compulsory arbitration system is a means to that end. But it must be compulsory. It cannot be subject to the willingness of either side to submit a dispute as to wages or hours to an umpire or a board or be willing to abide by the decision of such an umpire or such a board when the decision is rendered. There must be in order to conserve his paramount public right, a law of the state, guaranteeing uninterrupted service and at the same time insuring the maintenance of an equitable relationship between the workers and companies.—Washington Star.

When Strikers Were Flogged

In the days when George III was king the law provided that should a man refuse to go to work during any dispute of wages he should not only be sentenced to a term of imprisonment, but receive a sound flogging as well.

An amusing story is told that even in those days, there lived at least one man and he no less a personage than the then Lord Mayor of London, who sympathized with the strikers, and who, alas! was made to bitterly regret his leniency in this respect.

During Mr. Woods' tenure of office a certain journeyman sugar baker having had the audacity to go on strike for higher wages was duly brought before the Lord Mayor and charged with this offense. The humane Mr. Woods put him in prison but omitted to make an order for the logging on the warrant of commitment so that the prisoner escaped this most humiliating and painful part of his punishment. When he had done his time the sugar baker instead of throwing himself before the Lord Mayor in an ecstasy of gratitude, brought an action against him for breach of the law and the jury was compelled to award him damages for being illegally deprived of his flogging.

WERE MADE HAPPY.

Inmates of Home for Aged Women Have Cause for Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving at the Home for Aged Women was joyous, bountiful and sumptuous.

There was devout thankfulness to the Giver of all good for the many mercies and blessings vouchsafed to the aged servants, who by God's grace are bearing infirmities with cheerful patience and awaiting His will concerning them.

The ladies of the Home received many visits from their friends and various packages assured them of the love and sympathy cherished for them in many hearts.

Those who contributed special donations for the Thanksgiving season were Mr. Henry P. Payne, barrel of flour; Miss Ann Pelice, barrel of apples; Whipple school, barrel of apples; Mr. Harry Sussman, supplies; Mrs. William A. Pelice; Mrs. Woodbury Langdon, fruit and confectionery; Miss Mary E. Meyers, pears and after-dinner mint. A friend sent a card for each lady; Mrs. Ann S. Barry, Mrs. John H. Sugden, Mrs. and Miss Pray and others sent acceptable supplies for the Home.

Of course, the grandest feature of the occasion was the Thanksgiving dinner given by the pupils of the Farrington school. There was much enthusiasm manifested by the children and many touching incidents connected with their desires to provide their dear old ladies with a sumptuous feast. Every one will believe that it was a huge success after reading the list of all the goodies that arrived at the Home from the children on Wednesday.

Firstly, two deliciously tender turkeys, just such as the ladies wanted. Then there were sausages, cranberries, sweet and white potatoes, turnips, squashes, onions, butter, cheese, many kinds of wafers and biscuits, tea, coffee, oranges, grapes, figs, nuts, raisins, candy, ice cream and a supply of sugar for the household.

Is it any wonder that the ladies were made very happy?

Most cordial thanks are herein extended to all those loving children and to whomsoever remembered the Home during the Thanksgiving season.

STILL THEY COME.

Possessors of Old Tax Receipts Are Coming to the Front.

The announcement in The Herald a few days ago of the fact that Winfield S. Lord was the possessor of an old tax receipt seems to have started something, and since that time several parties have brought to the Herald office receipts of a still older date.

Mrs. Mark Jenkins of Lafayette road is the possessor of a Greenland tax bill bearing the date of May 1823, when her husband paid to Collector Thomas Pickering a county, state and school tax of $3.41.

In a letter to the Herald, C. C. Washburn says: "I can go Mr. M. H. Bell one better still as to tax bills. I have a water tax bill under date of June 24, 1824, issued to Nancy Handy Est. by the Portsmouth aqueduct. The bill called for $3.50 for the year of 1823. The conditions on the bill deal mostly with waste water. It is signed by Joseph Ackman Jr. treasurer. I also have an edition of Osborne's New Hampshire Spy under date of 1790, one year after Washington took office.

SAILORS WON THEIR GAME

Defeated Newburyport A. C. in Annual Foot Ball Game.

The football team of the U. S. S. Washington went to Newburyport on Thanksgiving day where they defeated the Newburyport Athletic eleven by a score of 13 to 6.

The battleship team kicked off to Newburyport and the ball was fumbled by the local halfback who attempted to catch it and a Washington player fell upon it. In less than two minutes the visitors had rushed the ball from the 5-yard line, where they secured it, to over the locals goal line. The goal was missed.

Score—Washington 6, N. A. C. 0. The ball alternated between the two teams until nearly the end of the period, when a visiting player dropped a punt on his own 15-yard line, and H. Kelleher fell on it for the locals.

After several short gains by Connors and Gamester, Knapp shot through tackle for a touchdown. Rourke missed the goal by a small margin. Score—N. A. C. 6, Washington 6.

Second Period

In the second period no score was made by either side.

Rourke for Newburyport kicked off to the navy team in the second half, and the ball went nearly to the goal line. After a few short rushes for small gains, the navy team punted to Newburyport, which fumbled, the navy securing the ball. Newburyport recovered the ball soon after and made a number of gains, but seemed unable to hold the "greasy" ball.

The navy team changed its tactics towards the last part of the period and tried forward passes for long gains. Finally on a long forward pass from Hambrick to Kelley, the latter crossed the goal line for the final score of the game, Martin kicking the goal, making the score, U. S. S. Washington 13, N. A. C. 6.

The game ended soon after the last score. The navy team were a clean playing, snappy playing, gentlemanly bunch of players, and the best of feeling prevailed throughout the game between the two teams.

For Newburyport, Rourke, H. Kelleher, T. Connors, N. Knapp and Grant excelled, while for the navy team, Capt. McKnight, Hambrick, Kelley and Davis played finely.

The afternoon was a very disagreeable one for both spectators and players, but the game was so close and interesting that nearly all of the onlookers stayed until the last play was run off.

The Summary:

U. S. S. Washington . . . Newburyport A. C.
Kelley 13 . . . re. H. Kelleher

GUM AND LOUD TIES.

Also Tan Shoes and Bouquets Tabooed on Railroad.

Flashy neckties, tan shoes, chewing gum, sandwiches, conversation with the women passengers and the wearing of buttonhole bouquets have been tabooed by the Boston & Maine railroad among the employees.

To see that these regulations and others are carried out as prescribed by the management, "observers" have been engaged in large numbers to ride in the trains and carefully note any violation of the new perfection act just adopted by the road.

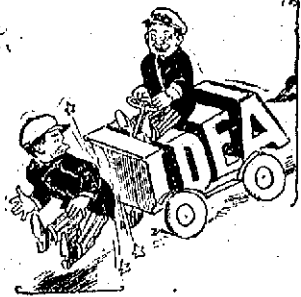

Straight Caps.

Conductors, baggage masters and trainmen can no longer wear their heavy caps at a rakish angle. They must be worn straight or the observer will get them. Nothing but the regulation buttons go, either. No picture buttons, motto buttons of "I love you," and the like, or political buttons can be worn. Just regulation buttons and nothing more.

Partaking of refreshments in a baggage car, or where one might be so said this is such a breach of train etiquette that one may be severely reprimanded. The chewing of gum is regarded as a most disgraceful act, and must be discontinued.

Recent bulletins have been issued advising the men in passenger train service that a system of espionage has been adopted, and that the results, good or otherwise, will be used in a monthly bulletin for their information.

CITY DOING THE WORK.

Old Poles and Wires of Telepost Being Removed—Eight Miles in All.

Acting under the resolution passed by the City Council Inspector Ballard has begun the removal of all poles and wires of the defunct Telepost Company within the city limits. These lines were formerly owned by the Baltimore and Ohio telegraph company and for 20 years were leased by the Western Union. Following the expiration of the lease, they went into the hands of the Telepost who went under a few years ago.

The company failed to send a representative here at the hearing as to why the lines should not be taken, consequently the city will do the work to prevent accidents that are liable to follow if the lines remain. There is eight mile of poles and nearly twenty-four mile of wire in Portsmouth for which the city may realize something if the poles and lines are sold.

CHARGE OF SHOT ENTERED HEART

Derry Young Man Met Death While Rabbit Hunting on Thanksgiving Day.

Derry, N. H., Nov. 29.—An unfortunate shooting accident occurred here Thanksgiving afternoon when Harry G. Webb lost his life. Mr. Webb, in company with four other young men, went to the Pingree hill to hunt rabbits, as he had done several times this fall. The dog ran a rabbit to a stone wall and there the party tried to find the animal. Mr. Webb looked on one side to find it and the others strayed a short distance behind him. Suddenly they heard the report of a shotgun, and, on looking, saw Mr. Webb fall to the ground. They ran to his side just in time to find him breathing his last. Dr. Samuel J. Cogswell was quickly on the spot and, acting under instructions from the county solicitor took the place of the medical referee, who was absent. The body was taken in Mr. Trowbridge's automobile to the undertaking rooms of A. G. Kelley.

"It was found by the medical referee that the entire charge of shot had entered the young man's breast just below the heart and had probably lacerated that member and the left lung. The young man's parents were nearly prostrated.

Harry G. Webb was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Webb, who live at 8 Everett street in this town. A brother, Hugh, and a sister, Elnora P. Webb, also survive. He was born in Danville, Vt., 27 years ago. He lived in Epping several years and was a member of the Epping grange. He was also a member of the Derry Athletic association. Over four years ago he came here to act as drug clerk in J. L. Benson's pharmacy. He worked diligently and by hard study and close application to the business had succeeded in being registered in this state. The funeral will be held at the home on Everett street Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

NO INDIGESTION, GAS OR A SOUR STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" Makes Your Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt, if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps, your head dizzy and aches, belch gases and acids and crumble undigested food; breath foul tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion, if your food is a damage, instead of a help, remember the quick, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

THANKSGIVING THE SAME OLD HAPPY HOLIDAY

Children Made Happy By Salvation Army--Fine Menu at the Jail--Enlisted Men Have Special Turkey Dinner--Union Service in North Church.

Thanksgiving day was cold and dreary as far as the weather offerings were concerned, but otherwise it was the same old joyous holiday with its hundreds of happy family gatherings and good cheer for everybody. King Turkey reigned supreme and not only in the family gatherings, but in all of the public institutions such as the jail, and with the soldiers and sailors, at the yard and at the forts.

The morning hours were cold and the temperature did not rise above the freezing point, much during the entire day. Shortly before noon snow fell, and this continued for an hour or more with the wind shifting into the east, and with every indication of a real snow storm. The ground was white, but soon after it ceased snowing it melted.

Union Church Service

The usual Union church service by the Protestant churches, was held yesterday at the North church, and there was a good congregation present.

Rev. L. L. Galtier of the Methodist church delivered the sermon, taking for his text, "Visions of Empires." Rev. Alfred Gooding of the Unitarian Church read the scripture and Rev.

M. M. Adams of the Advent church made the prayer and Rev. E. P. Moulton of the Pearl Street Baptist church offered the benediction.

The Salvation Army

The Salvation Army made seventy-five children happy on Thanksgiving day, when at noon they were served with a fine dinner in which the turkey took a prominent part. Captain W. L. Weatherbee and his able assistants have been busy for several days getting ready for this great occasion and through the generosity of the citizens at large they were able to take care of the number of children mentioned, also eight adults.

The following was the menu served: Roast Turkey, Roast Pork, Roast Veal, Cranberry and Apple Sauce, Mashed Potatoes, Squash, Turnips, Apple Mince and Squash Pie, Nuts and Apples.

The children were entertained during their dinner with a graphophone concert, through the kindness of B. M. Tilton.

The children were present with their appetites long before the time set and when the doors were opened they quickly found places, and with faces broadened into smiles they heard the few words of praise by Capt. Weatherbee and there was no more ceremony but everybody fell to and for a time there was nothing but real business on the part of the children. There was plenty of everything and no sooner did a child empty his plate, before it was filled again. After pies had been served, the children were given nuts and candy and when they left were presented with an apple.

Capt. Weatherbee has the following table assistants in his good work: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powell, Mr. and Mrs. F. Penny, Mrs. John Pike, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen E. Penny, Mrs. Edward Pike, Mrs. Clarke and Mr. James Slaughter, who did the carving.

At the Portsmouth Jail Deputy Sheriff Wilbur Shaw gladdened the hearts of the inmates of the County Jail on Thanksgiving day, when he, and his estimable wife served them a dinner, the likes of which many of the inmates had never received before. Deputy Shaw with Mrs. Shaw looked after every detail and every prisoner was made to feel that on one day his offence was forgotten.

The following splendid menu was served:

Rice Brath
Roast Turkey, Cranberry Sauce, Celery
Mashed Potatoes, Boiled Onions, Baked Squash
Mince and Apple Pie
Fruit

Following the dinner a concert program was given with a quartette from the prisoners and with organ selections by Mrs. Shaw. A number of graphophone selections were also rendered. In all it was a happy occasion and the prisoners retired full with better thoughts of the world.

Thanksgiving at the Navy Yard Thanksgiving day as usual was well observed by the enlisted men, and the usual dinner of roast turkey was served. This is a government regulation and it took a good many hundred weight to supply the yard and ships for yesterday.

On all of the ships and at the barracks a special menu was served with the turkey as a center piece.

At the prison ship Southern City, all suspended regulations as far as possible, so that the prisoners could enjoy themselves and they were served with a fine menu of turkey and all of the fixings. Following the dinner the annual minstrel show was held and there was a very fine musical program.

Up at the big naval prison the prisoners and guard had a fine dinner with lots of little extras.

At Fort Constitution

Down at Fort Constitution the men of the 156th Company, sat down to the usual fine holiday menu for which this post is famous. The commissary department outdid itself a Thursday and the roast turkey was but a part of a very fine menu.

VETERAN FIREMEN MAKE ANNUAL BALL A SUCCESS

Big Crowd Enjoy Dance as Guests of Veterans--Plan for Future Party.

The Franklin Pierce Veteran Firemen's Association were right there with the goods on Thanksgiving evening, the occasion being their seventh annual concert and ball at Freeman's Hall and this hustling association of Red Shirts made it a great success, both from a social and a financial standpoint.

The affair of last evening was such a great success that it was decided to hold an inaugural ball on March 4, and the ball has been engaged and the Association promises something big in the line of a ball.

Hoyle and Parker's orchestra furnished the music, and rendered a fine concert program from 8.30 to 9.00. The grand march was started promptly on time and it was led by Mr. Dennis Lynch and Mrs. Nettie Bridge of Somerville, Mass. There were about ninety couples in line and during the evening nearly twice as many dances.

There were eighteen numbers on the dance order, and it was well into this morning before the Vets were willing to call it a night.

The veterans were out in force and they looked very brave in their handsome uniforms. The officers of the dance were: Floor Marshal--President, Horace W. Gray.

Assistant Floor Marshals--Vice President Joseph W. Ackerman, First Assistant Foreman, Edward A. Weeks, Second Assistant Foreman, Augustus F. Barr.

Aides--Samuel R. Hamilton, Charles P. Downs, Charles H. Foote, William A. Bishop, George W. Hersey, James Scammon, Woodbury C. Cammett, Joseph P. Rowbotham, Everett W. Staples, William R. Lomas, Dennis J. Lynch, Charles F. Shuffelburg, Libbey Bennett, William J. Gallagher, John Foden, John Jackson.

Reception Committee--Mayor Daniel W. Badger. Board of Engineers--John D. Randall, John W. Akerman, William F. Woods, John Pender, Wm. H. White, Eben H. Blaisdell, Elisha B. Newman, Winfield S. Lord.

of the aquarium at Bermuda he has a call on some of the best things from that archipelago. Consequently, although Boston's aquarium has come into being nearly twenty years later than New York's, it will from the start be hardly less well worth a visit. Besides the variegated fauna from the tropics there are the usual displays of the more familiar fish of the north Atlantic coast and the inland waters of New England. These are seen at their best in the large glass tanks lighted from windows in the roof. The aquarium collections are open every day including Sundays, and costing nothing but carfare to City Point and back the new institution is popularizing Boston's extensive park system.

HAD TO TAKE WHEEL APART TO RELEASE BOY

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Voudy of the Langdon Hotel, met with a peculiar accident on High street Tuesday afternoon, that came near being serious.

The little fellow was riding down from school on the handle bars of one of the older boys bicycle, when the wheel struck a rut in the road and both boys were thrown. Young Voudy caught his foot in the spokes of the wheel and it was twisted in with the wrecked wheel and cut and bruised. His leg was wedged in tight and he was unable to release it. Deputy Sheriff Shaw happened along in his machine and he had to take the bicycle apart before the boys leg could be released, and he then took the boy home in his automobile.

It is understood that still another bowling alley is to be installed.

Make your cut glass sparkle with GOLD DUST

Soap leaves a greasy film on glass, which is hard to remove; the following method of washing will, however, make glass crystal clear:

Take a wooden tub, or pad the metal sink with soiled glass-linen towels, or any soft piece of cotton. Wash the glass in warm suds, made by dissolving a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in a pan of hot water; use a soft brush to clean surface, then rinse in water of the same temperature.

After the glass has been carefully dried on glass linen, use a camel's hair brush to polish the cut surface.

Butter contains water and salt Cottolene is 100% shortening

When you buy butter for cooking purposes, you are paying for 25% water and salt; you get but 75% real shortening value. In Cottolene you get 100% shortening.

Cottolene costs much less than good butter--and gives just as good results in shortening and frying. Cottolene is as cheap or cheaper than lard--gives better results--and is absolutely healthful, which is more than can be said of lard.

Cottolene is economical, because one-third less is required than of either butter or lard.

BULGARIA AND GREECE AT ODDS OVER SPOILS

Servia, Nov. 27--Serious apprehensions are entertained here on account of the strained relations between Bulgaria and Greece which may lead to rupture in the Balkan alliance. It is reported that near Sores a skirmish has already taken place between the Bulgarians and the Greeks, the latter desiring to enter the town, which was already occupied by Bulgarians. There were dead and wounded on both sides. In Salonica matters are rapidly coming to a climax and a diplomatic conflict has arisen. The Bulgarians are convinced that the Greeks are carrying on negotiations with Turkey on their behalf. The Athens Press is insisting that Greece must make good its claim to occupy Constantinople, is creating indignation among the other Balkan kingdoms.

ABOSTONGIRLSBUDGET

Boston's Great Cathedral of All the Fish Is Now Open to Visitors--Rare Specimens from Tropical Waters Delight Multitudes.

Boston, Nov. 28, 1912. Another dramatic episode to join the ever growing ranks of the playthings is Earl D. Biggers, well known to New Englanders and for a long time a leading critic of the press. Mr. Biggers is also well known for his witty writings and short stories, and there is no doubt but that his new play, to be given one performance only, will be a success. Several of Boston favorites will take part in the performance, among them Kate Ryan and George Hassell, and the event will also mark the theatrical debut of Miss Edna Jewett Johnson, the talented daughter of a well known Manchester family. All things considered, the forthcoming play is of more than passing interest to Bostonians and few Englishers in general who are familiar with Mr. Biggers' former successes.

A laudable undertaking on the part of one of the Boston newspapers is that of bringing before the public unusual cases of want and destitution which have escaped the watchful eye of the various charitable institutions. It is remarkable, considering the number of these institutions, public and private, in and around Boston, that many of these instances of destitution could exist. The pitiful case was recently reported of nine persons, living in one small room, the father out of work, the mother sick with the cough that threatens her life and the lives of the seven little ones crowded into the same atmosphere, no

LAWYER PATRICK IS GRANTED A PARDON

RECALLS FAMOUS CASE AND PRISONER'S FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Albert T. Patrick, who is serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William Marsh Rice, an aged millionaire in New York City on Sept. 23, 1900, was pardoned tonight by Governor Dix.

Patrick, who was saved from the electric chair by the late Governor Higgins in December, 1906, has made a remarkable fight for freedom. A lawyer by profession he protested when Governor Higgins commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment, declaring that the Governor had no legal right to cancel the original sentence and impose a punishment of life imprisonment.

Governor Dix announced that he had pardoned Patrick, just as he was about to leave the capitol for the executive mansion.

"There has always been an air of mystery in this important case," he said. "Quoting from the minority opinion the atmosphere that surrounded the defendant showed that a fair and impartial trial was scarcely possible."

"I trust that Mr. Patrick will devote his energies to a complete vindication of his declared innocence."

"During the last year I have given much attention to this case and am convinced that the defendant is entitled to having a full pardon."

Governor Dix said Col. Joseph F. Bell, superintendent of the State prison, was among those who recommended Patrick's pardon. He said he received letters from scores of prominent citizens in Patrick's behalf but he declined to say who the writers were.

After the Governor signed his pardon an attaché of the executive department dropped the document into the local postoffice tonight in an envelope addressed to Warden John T. Kennedy of Sing Sing. If the pardon reaches the prison tomorrow Patrick may be released upon his receipt, although he may not leave the prison until Friday.

It is said that Patrick plans to move for St. Louis, the home of John T. Mifflin, his brother in law, but may return later as a claimant for the million left by the aged man with whose murder he was charged. Mr. Mifflin aided Patrick in his fight for freedom, and it is reported will assist him in his efforts to prove his innocence.

At a time during his long incarceration at Sing Sing, four years of which were spent in the prison department has Patrick given up the hope of securing his freedom.

After his father had been released at the executive mansion, arguing that he be pardoned, and each successive Governor since Governor Dill has been asked to extend executive clemency.

Governor Higgins was so impressed with the prisoners' plea that he granted him three respites and eventually commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

Patrick was charged with having brought about the death of Mr. Rice through the agency of Charles F. Jones, a valet employed in the Rice household. It was principally upon the testimony of Jones, who confessed to having administered chloroform to the old man while he was asleep at the request of Patrick that the lawyer was convicted. Jones escaped punishment.

household. It was principally upon the testimony of Jones, who confessed to having administered chloroform to the old man while he was asleep at the request of Patrick that the lawyer was convicted. Jones escaped punishment.

THE STORY OF RUBBER

The history of rubber which now plays such an important part in the electrical industry, where it is used for water proof and insulating purposes begins with the discovery of America.

Soon after the adventurous ships of Spain returned from the new world a number of small gum balls were exhibited in Europe. These balls were used by the natives of America in a game akin to lawn tennis. For a long time no use was made of this rubber and it was taken across the ocean and exhibited as a curiosity.

It was not until the year 1736 that scientists began to experiment with rubber. For twenty five years they worked to find a solvent for the gum and at last Macquer dissolved caoutchouc in all of turpentine, rectified ether and obtained a mass that showed the rubber to retain its elastic state. Either was also used. Priestley, the great discoverer of oxygen in 1770, found that rubber made a good eraser for pencil marks. Two years later, Makellian induced the French to use rubber commercially and its price was $5.00 an ounce.

In 1793 J. H. Wilson discovered a rubber tree (precocla elastica) in Assam province.

In 1791 Samuel Peat had already taken out the first patent connection with rubber for the application of dissolving rubber to waterproofing. A second equally useless patent was obtained twenty nine years later, by Thomas Hancock, April 29, 1820. In 1823 Charles Macintosh received the patent on waterproofing fabrics by dissolving rubber in coal oil, and built the first factory in Glasgow, moving later to Manchester.

The fact that all articles made would not stand the stress of heat and cold led a German chemist, Prof. Liebig, to the discovery in 1832 that sulphur mixed with rubber dissolved in turpentine removed all viscosity from the rubber.

Then, in 1839, Nelson Goodyear, an American, solved the riddle of the rubber question. He discovered how to produce rubber objects that would withstand all extremes of heat and cold. Nathan Haysard, his friend and partner, one day accidentally dropped some rubber mixed with sulphur upon a heated stove. When he picked it up it was noticed that the sulphur was absorbed by the rubber, which kept its elasticity when afterward exposed to the hot sun. Goodyear, who three years before had started in the rubber business, got the United States government contracts for rubber mailbags, continued experimenting with this discovery and in 1844 received his patents on the vulcanizing process.

Hancock had also allowed little grass to grow under him for in 1803 he had gathered a British patent for the same method and thus prevented the Haywood Rubber Company from sending rubber shoes into England seven years later, by claiming infringements on the British patents. Finally however, this was withdrawn and the American firm was granted the right to sell the American style of overshoes in the islands. That feat was superfluous for vulcanizing was proved publicly when in 1846, Alexander Parks, obtained a patent for a vulcanizing method, consisting of dropping the rubber into a solution of sulphur and carbon bisulphide.

Leather was giving way to rubber steadily. Door springs, nail bags, printing cylinders bells, and similar objects formerly made of leather were being manufactured of rubber. In 1850 (Halkett) of the English navy, invented the rubber collapsible boat, in 1856 patents doing away with the smell of rubber and patterns in rubber fabrics, stimulated the adoption of raincoats, blankets, etc. Then came the patent tires of Michelin, Dunlop and others for bicycles, automobiles and numerous other things. Rubber finds its greatest usefulness in the manufacture of automobile tires and for insulating and weatherproofing purposes in the electrical industry. It is a wonderful non conductor of electricity and, unlike most non conductors can be easily moulded into any form or shape. The fact that rubber can be converted into any shape and still retain its insulating properties makes it invaluable for the covering of wires and electrical conductors. Thousands of pounds of rubber are used every year in the electrical industry and it is this wonderful gum first discovered in America, that safeguards and protects the electrical wires which enter our homes or offices and factories.

FOREIGN EDUCATIONAL NOTES

A class in social hygiene has been established in the University at Munich, Germany.

At the Ghent World's Exposition there will be a number of international congresses, including one of teachers of domestic science, and one of women engaged in farming, the latter in connection with a general congress of agriculturalists.

There is an Oriental Institute for languages at Naples Italy with an attendance of 450. Seventy eight students are taking Arabic, 16 Turkish, 32 Persian, 65 Amharic, 85 Chinese, 63 modern Greek, 31 Albanian, and 80 Japanese. Some of the students pursue two or more of these languages concurrently.

Ancient farmhouses have been gathered from all parts of Denmark and placed in the grounds of the famous Danish National Museum at Copenhagen, with a view to educating the people in their national history. There are galleries filled with old furniture, antique coaches, harnesses that belonged to different guilds, with their funeral trappings, and other interesting relics of the past.

Holland affords a good example of public school progress in the important matter of attendance. In 1900 about 3 in every hundred children did not receive instruction; in 1902 the number had gone down to 2 in every hundred; and more recently the inspection at Nijmegen was able to announce that there were no children of 13 or 14 years who could not read or write.

WANTS TO PAY BY SPACE FOR CARRYING OF MAILS

Under Weighing System Railroads Get $50,000,000—Hitchcock Thinks He Can Cut This $9,000,000.

Washington Nov. 28.—Rearrangement of railway mail was the subject of a conference today between Postmaster General Hitchcock and representatives of several of the larger railway systems. The railways are now paid according to the weight of mail carried, while Mr. Hitchcock proposes to pay according to the amount of car space actually used. Under the present system many roads appear to be receiving an exorbitant amount while some of the smaller lines, are actually losing money.

Under the weighing system the government pays approximately $50,000,000 a year to the railways for carrying mail.

Mr. Hitchcock contends that if his plan is adopted it will result in an annual saving of not less than $9,000,000.

LACE FIGHUS

Those who are the fortunate possessors of real lace scarfs and hosiery, especially if the lace has gained the mellow tint of years, will find many opportunities during the next few months for displaying their treasures to the best possible advantage. Since on all the newest evening frocks, whether of the smarter or the simpler kind, lace will play a prominent part. Neckties and shoulder scarfs will be worn separately, and even the former will not need much in the way of arrangement beyond a light silk tie and there to keep the precious fabric in position.

FOOTSORE AND WEARY AFTER LONG TRAMP

William Osborne, a young lad of 16 years claiming New Bedford as his home, limped into the police station on Wednesday forenoon, footsore and hungry. The young fellow was in a weakened condition from lack of proper food and from exposure, and he was helped on the way to his home by his fare being paid to Boston.

Young Osborne left his home in New Bedford on Oct. 4 to go to work for the Great Northern Lumber Co. While at work on Nov. 17, he was injured by a falling branch and he was confined to his bunk with an injured leg. When he was able to be about he asked for his money but the boss refused to give him his money, but told him to clear out. Unable to get any satisfaction he started to walk home from Rockwood, Me., but he made hard work of it stealing rides on freights and walking the greater part of the way. His injured leg not getting proper care, became infected and it was in a bad condition when he reached here.

He was given something to eat and later the county commissioners paid his fare to Boston.

FAMILY REUNION

General Auditor William J. Hobbs of the New York New Haven & Hartford & the Boston & Maine railroad, with his family from Malden, and General Auditor George Hobbs of the Main Central railroad and family from Portland, held a Thanksgiving day reunion at the Hotel Rockingham on Thursday. Both officials came here in their private cars, and they had dined served at 8 o'clock in the Colonial dining room. With them was another brother, Walter Hobbs of the Colonial Trust Company, Boston. They returned home in the early evening.

Praise This Remedy For Lung Trouble

If the voluntarily written words of grateful people, living in all parts of the country, praising Eckman's Alternative, a remedy for the treatment of coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles, are to be believed, this medicine is certainly doing a vast amount of good for such sufferers. We state none but facts and give to you the names and words of praise of those who declare it benefited them—in many cases coupled with the writers' statements that it restored them to health. This is a sample taken from many:

St. Mary's Academy, O'Neill, Nebraska.
"Gentlemen: About seven years ago, I was attacked with the dreaded disease, Tuberculosis. I coughed unceasingly, could not sleep nor eat, even could not speak out loud and could do no work. I had three hemorrhages raised blood most, of the time and suffered with night sweats, fever and chills. A specialist of Columbus, Ohio, pronounced my case hopeless."

"Nearly five years ago, I heard of your Alternative and procured some at once, with the result that I soon found myself restored to health. For the past four years I have been able to continue my teaching and though I have always had heavy school work, I am also able to perform much manual labor. I consider your medicine if faithfully taken, a most excellent remedy for consumption. Mother Superior permits this testimony."

ANOTHER FROM MAYOR BADGER

Puts Veto on Resolution Passed by Council Relative to Age in the Fire Department

The Mayor has vetoed an ordinance passed by the City Council November 21, 1912, providing that "No person shall be a member of the Fire Department of the City of Portsmouth either as a call, or permanent member as a substitute therefor, until he has attained the age of twenty-one years," and his reasons for so doing are contained in the following message:

To the Honorable City Council:— I have considered the effect of the legislation intended in this bill, very carefully and cannot escape the conclusion that it will not add to the efficiency of the Fire Department. Improved efficiency of the department is the only possible justification for an ordinance of this kind.

The desire to become firemen, and the attendant enthusiasm usually possesses young men at an early age, and it is an undisputed fact that many under the age of twenty-one years are physically and otherwise competent to become firemen; therefore I believe it wiser and better for the service to leave this matter to the judgment and discretion of the Board of Engineers, whose business it is to know the welfare and needs of the Fire Department.

Furthermore, Chapter 115 Public Statutes provides that the Board of Engineers shall have control and establish regulations in certain matters, and I think should rightly control and regulate this matter therefore the enactment appears to be superfluous and unnecessary.

For these reasons, which are for the best interest of the city, I deem it my duty to exercise the veto power of his office.

DANIEL W. BADGER, Mayor.
